

Tips for Being a Partner in Your Care

Being a partner in your care helps you get the best care possible while you are in the hospital. It also helps you learn how to care

Tip 1: Give us information about your health

Doctors and nurses may know more about medicine, but you and your family or friends know more about you and your body. That is